A DISCOUNT.

We made unusual preparations for an early spring trade, but the weather under this Democratic administration has knocked our calculations. We have too many goods on our counters, and they must go. And go they will, if slashing reductions have anything to do with it.

As you well know, our stock is the largest in the state, and comprises everything new and nobby that is worth having. Stop in take a look at our Men's Suits at $10, $12 and $15. Unusual good values at these prices. Other Clothiers ask $3 to $5 a suit more for goods not as good.

BOYS' CLOTHING

Equally well prepared are we to serve your children. In our Mammoth Boys' Department there are literally thousands of New and Nobby Styles of Long and Short Pants Suits, Single and Double-Breasted, to select from. Buy nothing in male attire until you have seen our goods.

A LITTLE FLURRY YESTERDAY

In one of the Sub-Committees will only increase the enthusiasm of those who are for it—Additional Committee Members Named—A Spicy Meeting to Begin with.

The feeling in favor of a creditable celebration of the Fourth of July in this auspicious Columbian year grows more and more enthusiastic every day. It is frequently pointed out that almost every city has frequent similar celebrations, while Wheeling neglects such opportunities to keep her people at home to spend their money, and to bring other people in. The sub-committees are now ready for work, and inside of a week matters ought to be in pretty good shape.

Through an error the name of Mr. Henry Schulbach was not included in the list of the membership of the finance committee as published yesterday morning. He is a member of that committee.

Messrs. Philip Henry Moore and W. P. Heiskell have also been added to the committee on speakers and entertainment. Messrs. Joseph D. DuBois and Nelson C. Whitaker have also been added to the reception committee.

Two sub-committees, those on street decoration and display, and speakers and entertainment, were called to meet this evening. When that arrangement was made, however, it was forgotten that the Altemheim anniversary celebration occurred to-night. For this reason, as many of the members desire to attend the entertainment, the meetings of the committees will not take place this evening, but the two committees named will meet Monday evening at 8 o'clock, at the chamber of commerce room.

The committee on finance appointed Tuesday evening at the meeting of the general committee having in charge the arrangements for the proposed Columbian Fourth of July celebration, met at the rooms of the chamber of commerce yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Six of the eight members were present, Messrs. O'Brien, Jenson, Horkheimer, Simpson, Behrens and Speidel. The only absentees were Messrs. Keymann and Hoffman, who were unable to be present.

Before the committee met there was an informal discussion regarding the celebration and Colonel O'Brien was of the opinion that $4,000 or $5,000 could easily be raised by subscription within the coming three or four weeks, when the committee could report the prospect to the general committee, and the expenditures be regulated.

The committee organized by the election of Mr. Joseph Speidel as chairman and Mr. Frank Jenson as secretary.

The committee had been in session but a few minutes until it became evident that some of the members were not heartily in favor of the celebration. Mr. Speidel, the chairman, was the first to say that he was not thoroughly in accord with the proposed celebration, though he would give as liberally for it as any one. He did not think the Fourth was the proper time for a celebration, particularly that it would be too hot. Colonel O'Brien said that until the chairman had expressed such views he had heard nothing of the sort except in last Sunday's Register, which had an article about it which he considered very silly and ill-timed. Mr. Speidel reiterated as he was not thoroughly in accord, and also did not care to make the personal canvass that would be required of members of the finance committee, he would have to decline to serve. Mr. Morris Horkheimer said that he had become a chestnut and shop-worn in the soliciting business, and would not care to serve on the committee. Colonel O'Brien said that if there was to be a break in the committee it must be entire.

Mr. Simpson said he didn't believe much in fireworks; the ones used in the last Columbian celebration had been a dismal failure.

Mr. Behrens said that there were not over half a dozen people in his ward who would contribute, but that he would contribute handsomely.

Mr. Simpson declared that he was one of Wheeling's everlasting beggars and he was tired of it.

Colonel O'Brien remarked that had it been known in the meeting of the night before among people who had asked not to be put on committees, how this meeting was turning out, there might have been a different feeling.

Mr. Jenson said that when the finance committee had been made up at the meeting of the general committee it had been remarked that the finance committee selected was one of husters.

Mr. Simpson said that he did not believe that the people of the city could be kept at home on the Fourth. He, however, was willing to assist in carrying out the plans of the committee.

Mr. Horkheimer stated that he was after a point of information; he wanted to know how the money needed was to be raised.

Colonel O'Brien—That is a very silly question for a man of your intelligence to ask.

Mr. Horkheimer—But, Colonel, in my silly way I would like to know.

He was informed that the plan is to secure the necessary funds by soliciting. There was some further talk, but nothing was done to forward the business of the committee. Colonel O'Brien said he was heartily sorry that some of the members of the finance committee had not availed themselves of the opportunity to attend the meeting of the general committee Tuesday evening. "If so a different state of affairs might have been arrived at here."

There was some discussion as to the advisability of holding the celebration, some taking the position that it would not be a benefit to the merchants of the city.

Mr. Jenson remarked that he would like to see the committee get together and raise five hundred or a thousand dollars, with which a very creditable celebration could be held.

Mr. Horkheimer said he was opposed to the celebration on account of the difficulty in getting the funds by subscription. Following this there was a little talk between Messrs. O'Brien and Horkheimer during which the latter remarked that he only gave his opinion in his silly way. The colonel remarked that there was something in that. He further said that the actions of the committee had almost made some of them believe that they had made fools of themselves in taking hold of the celebration.

Colonel O'Brien—I am prepared to adjourn this committee sine die so that another committee can be appointed by the general committee that will take hold. I will say further that if some of the members of this committee who were not at the meeting last night, and did not intend to serve, had sent a note declining they would have shown more courtesy.

Mr. Jenson thought Colonel O'Brien's remarks were very well timed.

Mr. Horkheimer, after a consultation with Chairman Speidel, suggested to the reporters present that the proceedings be not published in full.

Colonel O'Brien retorted that the members should not be ashamed of their course in the committee, and that for his part he would not object if the newspapers reported every word said.

Mr. Horkheimer then said that in his "silly" way he had thought it would be better for the interests of the proposed celebration that they be not printed.

Then followed a cross-fire of words between several members, concluded by Colonel O'Brien's statement that whenever he had anything to object to as to a man's lack of courtesy to him, he would address him personally.

Under the existing circumstances it was deemed wise to leave the general committee free to appoint a new finance committee, in accordance with which view the members who were present formally resigned.

What It Will Be.

Yesterday's Evening News.

The Fourth of July will be splendidly celebrated in Wheeling. The big meeting in the chamber of commerce last night settled that point. The citizens have put their shoulders to the wheel, and the wheel has started rolling at an entirely satisfactory rate. Now that the big demonstration is assured, it should be the care of the gentlemen having the matter in charge to make it not only a thoroughly patriotic demonstration, but a real paying investment. That can be done by the employment of first class speakers, the arrangement of a splendid musical programme, and a complete sporting programme. There should be and must be nothing lacking to make the affair worthy of the city in every respect, and if so, it will be so satisfactory from every standpoint that all will wish to see it repeated next year.

The Strike of the Mozart Park Workmen Takes an Unexpected Turn.

The strike of the men employed in the work of excavating at the site of the Mozart Park Association's incline plane railway, at the foot of Forty-third street, came to an abrupt and rather unexpected end yesterday at noon. It will be remembered that the men went out on a strike several days ago, which, however, lasted only a few hours, as one of the directors of the park association saw the men, assured them that they would be paid, and they returned to work. On Tuesday the men again went out, seeing no prospect of getting their money. Though they did not work any yesterday, most of them were at the scene of their work during the forenoon. About noon the paymaster of the Pittsburgh firm that has the excavation and masonry contract arrived, and paid all the men off in full, and informed them that their services would be no longer needed. The firm's representative claimed that he was kept away by reason of sickness, consequently the failure to pay on time. It is understood that the men were discharged because they struck, without letting their employers know of their action. The firm expects to put another force of fifty men on the work immediately.

Fine Iowa Horses.

On Friday afternoon at 1 o'clock a carload of fine Iowa horses will be offered at auction to the highest bidder at Peter Erb's livery stable, Main and Sixteenth streets. The gentleman who brings these horses here has sold several lots in the past, and they all gave good satisfaction. There are some fine ones in this carload, and bargains might be secured Friday afternoon.

Standard Accident.

Last night about ten o'clock at the Standard mill, a workman, Charles Wilkinson was badly burned on both hands by an explosion of gas in one of the furnaces. He avoided being burnt on the face by turning to one side. He was taken to his home in East Wheeling.

DIED.

FERRILL—On Tuesday evening, May 9, 1893, at 9 o'clock, Robert C. Ferrill, son of James and the late Amelia Ferrill, aged 4 months and 15 days.

Funeral from the residence of his grandmother, Mrs. Cotrell, on corner of Hickory and Fourth streets, Martin's Ferry, Ohio, at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Friends of the family invited. Interment at Peninsula Cemetery.

HAMILTON—On Tuesday, May 9, 1893, at 8:15 p. m., Joseph M. Hamilton, of brilliant, Ohio, in his 53d year.

The funeral will take place from the Wheeling Bridge & Terminal Railway depot at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. Friends of the family invited. Interment at Greenwood Cemetery.

Look over these symptoms: headache, obstruction of nose, discharges falling into throat—sometimes profuse, watery, and acrid, at others, thick, tenacious, mucous, purulent, bloody, putrid and offensive; eyes weak, ringing in ears, deafness; offensive breath; small and taste impaired, and general debility. You won't have all of them at once; probably only a few of them; but they mean Catarrh.

And the proprietors of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy mean to cure it, if you'll let them, no matter how bad or how long standing. If they can't, they'll pay you $500 in cash. They mean that, too, just as it's printed.

They offer you the money—or a certain cure, if you'll take their medicine. But if they weren't certain of the cure, they'd never offer you the money.
